The Task Force also announces Heritage Provider Network will be joining its membership.

WASHINGTON (August 20, 2019) – The Health Care Transformation Task Force (HCTTF or Task Force), a group of leading health care payers, providers, purchasers and patient organizations, today announced that Heritage Provider Network (HPN) will be joining its membership, in addition to changes in Executive Committee leadership.

Founded in 1979 and based in California, Heritage Provider Network (HPN) provides high quality, cost effective healthcare to almost 1,000,000 individuals in 5 states and is dedicated to quality, affordable health care, and putting patients' wellness first. HPN is on the cutting edge of the accountable care models of healthcare delivery: coordinated, patient-doctor centric, integrated health care systems that represent the future of health care in the United States. The network contracts with more than 18 health plans on a global risk basis, and brings more than 40 years of successful coordinated, managed care with over 4,000 primary care physicians and 30,000 specialists. The organization also named Blair Childs, Senior Vice President of Public Affairs for Premier, as the new Task Force Vice Chair. "Blair is a recognized industry leader on important value-based policy issues impacting hospitals and insurers," said HCTTF Chair Fran Soistman, Executive Vice President of Government Services, Aetna, A CVS Health Company. "We are very fortunate to have Blair sharing his expertise and serving in this leadership role for the Task Force."

At Premier, Blair leads the Advocacy, Communications, Safety and thought leadership units and serves on the executive team, and works closely with Congress, the White House, and other policymakers involved in health policy.

"I'm honored to serve as Vice Chair of the Task Force," Childs said. "This is a critical time in health care. It is imperative that we harness the Task Force's multi-sector consortium to develop and advance the policies and programs that will transition our health care system to one that rewards providers for high-quality, patient-centered and affordable care."

The Task Force also announced three new Executive Committee members:

- Emily Brower, Senior Vice President of Clinical Integration and Physician Services at Trinity Health takes over former Trinity CEO and Task Force Founding Chair Richard Gilfillan's position on the Task Force Executive Committee. In her role at Trinity Health, Emily provides leadership and strategic direction within the evolving accountable health care environment, with an emphasis on clinical integration and transformation under alternative payment models.

- Susan Sherry, Deputy Director of Community Catalyst joins the Executive Committee representing the consumer advocacy community. Susan provides strategic direction to nationally recognized federal, state, and local initiatives to expand health access, improve quality, and build community participation in health policy and health care systems. She has more than 35 years of experience working in health policy and consumer advocacy.
